GREAT GET TOGETHER 2026

19–21 June 2026

Inspired by Jo Cox's belief that we have more in common than that which divides us, the Great Get Together is a national celebration of connection. Across the UK, communities host events that bring neighbours, friends, and strangers together — sharing food, stories, and friendship.

This toolkit will help you organise your own Great Get Together and bring people together in your community.

THIS YEAR IS SPECIAL

In the days that followed Jo's murder, communities across the country responded not with fear, but with connection — coming together across difference and choosing unity over division.

Ten years on, Jo's message matters more than ever. This anniversary is not just about remembrance. It is a moment of choice. Holding a Great Get Together in your local area is a simple but powerful way to honour Jo's legacy and show what community really means.

Every single Great Get Together event has the power to strengthen connections between us.

"This anniversary is a moment of remembrance, but also one of incredible possibility. Over the last decade, we have seen that connection is a choice – and it's a choice that people across the UK are making every single day. By acting on Jo's belief that we have more in common than that which divides us, we can shape a more hopeful, connected future together."

Olivia Field, Chief Executive at The Jo Cox Foundation

REGISTER YOUR EVENT

You can register your interest in organising an event even if you only have a rough idea of what you want to do. By registering, we'll know that you're planning to organise an event and we can offer you support.

By registering, you will:

- Be able to request physical resources
- Receive information on how to apply for a mini grant of up to £100
- Receive emails with tips to help you organise your event

PHYSICAL RESOURCE PACKS

This year we're excited to offer you a choice of either a digital or physical resource pack, thanks to the generosity of those who supported our Great Get Together crowdfunding campaign.

Register now if you would like to receive a physical resource pack, containing bunting (first 250 packs only), balloons, stickers, posters and postcards

MINI-GRANT FUND

We know that, for some people, cost can be a barrier to organising a Great Get Together. This year, thanks to the support of GoFundMe, we're pleased to be able to offer a mini-grant fund for the first time.

We have £5,000 to give away to cover costs like hiring a space, providing refreshments or buying decorations. These grants of up to £100 will be available on a first come first served basis and, as the number of mini-grants available will be limited, we ask organisers to only apply if they would struggle to organise a Great Get Together without receiving a mini-grant.

5 STEPS TO PLANNING AND RUNNING YOUR GREAT GET TOGETHER

STEP 1 — Decide on your activities and register your event

A Great Get Together can take many forms. It can be large or small, formal or informal — the key is bringing people together. Start simple — there's no need for anything big or complicated. The beauty of the Great Get Together is that it can be whatever you want it to be.

Incorporating an activity at your event is a great way to help people connect. Doing an activity together takes the pressure off, making conversations flow more naturally.

Simple activities often work best — the goal is to create a welcoming space where people can come together and celebrate what they have in common.

Activity Ideas:

Sharing food

- Community picnics
- Neighbourhood barbecues
- Tea and cake gatherings
- Shared meals from different cultures
- Community potluck where everyone brings a dish to share
- Recipe swap table where people share favourite family recipes

Tip: Sharing food is a great way for people to connect. It can be an amazing opportunity to learn about other cultures, as well as sharing what we love about our own.

If you have food at your event, think about how you can help people feel welcome by considering a range of dietary requirements.

Spoken word and storytelling

- Storytelling sessions
- Poetry activities
- Intergenerational conversations sharing experiences
- Open mic sessions where people can share a short story, poem or song
- Sharing favourite memories of the local area

Tip: Try organising memory-sharing circles in pairs or small groups first — then invite a few volunteers to share with the whole group. This builds confidence and helps turn personal stories into shared connections.

Creative and cultural

- Music/dance or cultural activities
- Arts and crafts workshops or collaborative art projects like creating a shared mural where everyone can add a drawing or message
- Chalk painting on pavements where children and families decorate the ground with colourful drawings
- Decorating bunting where people design flags to hang around the event
- Community photo wall where people share photos or messages
- Intergenerational art between care home residents and school children

Tip: Could you showcase local talent or consider inviting performances from people from different cultures in your local area? Perhaps there are local artists or groups who could run a workshop.

GREAT GET TOGETHER STORY: MORE IN COMMON NOTTINGHAM WOMEN'S GROUP

Read how a Great Get Together art exhibition in Nottingham helped women from diverse backgrounds build confidence, connection and belonging.

“I loved the art sessions so much so it has given me the confidence and inspiration to paint a picture for our local children’s hospital”

Sports and outdoor activity

- Group walk around the local area
- Group jogs
- Games or sports events like football, Zumba or an introduction to yoga
- Family sports activities like egg and spoon or fancy dress races
- Gardening activities such as planting flowers together in a shared space
- Treasure hunt
- Giant garden games such as giant Jenga or Connect Four

Tip: Boccia is a Paralympic sport played from a seated position, where players propel balls towards a white marker ball called the “jack.” It’s widely regarded as one of the most inclusive sports because assistive devices such as ramps can be used, allowing people with a wide range of abilities to take part together. Find out more

Adapt an existing event

If there is a community event already happening in your area this summer like an established annual school summer fair, village fete, local sports day or community garden open day, you could use this as an opportunity to hold a Great Get Together event. With a little nudge in the right direction an existing community event can bring people from different backgrounds together.

If the event has run before – think about who usually comes, and who from the local community doesn’t. Consider how they might be made to feel more welcome.

STEP 2 — Choose a place and time

Where will your event happen? Pick a venue that is welcoming and accessible. Ideas include:

- Parks or outdoor spaces
- Community centres
- Libraries
- Schools
- Faith venues
- Workplaces or cafés
- On your street

When: This year most Great Get Together events will take place 19–21 June, near Jo Cox’s birthday, but you can host yours whenever it works best locally.

Plan ahead: Think about whether you need permission to run your event in your chosen location:

- Check if permission is needed for council land, streets, or private property.
- Apply for a temporary road closure if you’re holding a street party.
- Inform your neighbours about what’s happening, when, and where.
- Plan ahead — allow six to twelve weeks for approvals for public spaces or road closures.
- Visit GOV.UK – guide to organising a street party for detailed guidance on permissions, road closures, licences, and hiring venues.

Tip: Think about how people will get there. Try to find a venue that is accessible by public transport and that offers level or easy access, as well as parking spaces for disabled people.

STEP 3 – Invite people

Think about who in your community you would like to bring together and reach out to them directly. Include people from different backgrounds and local interest groups. For groups you don't know well, a quick online search can help you find contact details. Working with other organisations can help you reach communities who might not usually attend the same events.

- Neighbours and friends
- Schools and youth groups
- Residential care homes and nursing homes
- Faith groups
- Charities or volunteer groups
- LGBTQ+ groups
- Sports clubs
- Refugee and migrant organisations
- Arts groups
- Walking clubs
- Local businesses

Read how Epsom's Great Get Together created a welcoming space where refugee families could connect, feel included, and be part of the community.

"Today was truly unforgettable, filled with love, warmth, and a deep sense of safety. It was inspiring to see so many vulnerable refugee families brought together with the wonderful Epsom community. Thank you for creating such a special atmosphere and for all your efforts."

STEP 4 — Create a welcoming space

The Great Get Together is about bringing people together across communities and across difference. Make your event inclusive by:

- Inviting a wide range of people
- Planning activities that encourage conversation
- Ensuring your venue is accessible
- Greeting attendees and helping people connect
- Offer name stickers as people arrive
- Greet guests at the door — have a volunteer welcome people as they arrive and explain how to get involved.
- Assign dedicated welcomers to sit with or introduce new attendees to others.

Tip: Small gestures — like introductions or conversation prompts — can make a big difference.

GREAT GET TOGETHER STORY: FRODSHAM BEE FRIENDS

Read how Frodsham Bee Friends' welcoming "meet and greet" approach helped recently widowed Annie feel included, build friendships, and become a local volunteer.

"It can be intimidating for someone to walk into the parish hall on their own, not knowing anyone, so they have a policy of meeting and greeting everyone who comes to one of their events. These greeters then walk the attendee to a table where they're introduced to others and are sure to be welcomed."

STEP 5 – Spread the word

Let people know they are welcome. Use a mix of methods:

- Share posts on social media (see our examples in the Social Media Posts section)
- Send invitations through newsletters or mailing lists
- Put up posters in community spaces
- Ask local organisations to share your event
- Contact local media
- Register your event to promote it on our map (we'll email to let you know how and when you can do this)

Using #GreatGetTogether connects your event to the wider celebration happening across the UK.

Tips:

- Well-thought-through publicity materials can help people feel that an event is for them
- Use images that show people from the different communities you want to appeal to
- Clearly communicate event details that demonstrate everyone is welcome
- Encourage people to come on their own – or invite a neighbour they don't know well (yet!)
- Use Jo's name and the "more in common" message in your promotion to show everyone is welcome

Licences, safety and insurance

When planning a community event, different activities may or may not need licences or permissions depending on what you're doing and how big the event is

Licences and permissions – Many activities at voluntary events don't need a licence, but it's worth checking early if you plan anything that could be licensable (e.g. selling alcohol, charging for tickets, or providing entertainment)

Health and safety – The UK Government 'Can-do' guide says that health and safety law does not generally impose duties on someone who is not an employer, self-employed, or employee – but it encourages event organisers to think realistically about what could go wrong and take sensible precautions. It's a good idea to do a simple risk assessment and plan for safe movement, first aid, and emergency access

Food and drink – If your event includes food, follow basic food safety and hygiene rules. Depending on how food is provided or sold, you may need to register as a food business with your local authority

Insurance – There is no law requiring insurance for a voluntary/community event, though many organisers choose public liability insurance for peace of mind. Sometimes venues or councils may ask for it as a condition of using their space

Accessibility and inclusion – Make sure your space and activities are accessible to people with disabilities, families, and others with specific needs

Martyn's Law – asks organisers of large events to take reasonable anti-terrorism precautions, focusing on awareness and proportionate planning:

- For events with 200–799 attendees, take basic protective steps and consider risks
- For events with 800+ attendees, more comprehensive measures are needed

FUNDRAISE AT YOUR EVENT

Like all charities, The Jo Cox Foundation relies on donations to enable us to continue to run our brilliant projects, including the Great Get Together and the rest of our vital work. If you'd like to support us, then fundraising at your Great Get Together this June is a really easy way to do so.

We're here to support you every step of the way – from ideas about what kind of event to run, to those important logistics like where to send donations! After you register your event, we're always here to help.

If you have any questions, simply email info@jocoxfoundation.org to reach our team.

Why fundraise?

The Great Get Together transforms communities, helping to bridge divides and bringing to life Jo Cox's belief that we 'have more in common than that which divides us'. However, without support, we won't be able to keep this vital work going, which is why we're asking you to consider fundraising for The Jo Cox Foundation at your Great Get Together this June.

Great Get Together events have an incredible impact on communities with over 100,000 people attending a Great Get Together every single year. Our 2025 Impact Report shows that:

- 79% felt a greater sense of belonging
- 88% felt a greater connection to others in their community
- 86% of people are more likely to help neighbours since attending an event

By choosing to fundraise for the Jo Cox Foundation at your Great Get Together event, you can help us to continue running the campaign and keep making a difference in communities across the UK.

"It showed that no matter what our background we all have something in common. We are all human."
